Women's Garment Makers To Confer on Trade Problems

Mass Meeting Next Monday of All Branches of Industry to Consider Means of Stabilizing the Market

The many troubles besetting the women's apparel trade, chief of which is a well defined policy on the part of many retailers to hold off placing orders in the hope of "breaking" the market...

There have been running far from smoothly for the manufacturers of coats, suits, dresses, waists and skirts since the opening of the fall season...

It is expected that some general plan of limiting the production of garments and orders on hand to prevent a surplus in the market will be broached at the meeting next week.

Letters were sent yesterday to other sections in the various divisions of the garment manufacturing trade asking their cooperation in the conference.
